

The Confidential Times

no.203.078

...for your eyes only...

- Since 2009

THE ANSWER IS NO LONGER 42

Double kill

The assassin Artemis realised too late that the "friend" advancing towards her in the union foyer was hell-bent on murdering her. She spotted the handful of Ninja Death Stars he was carrying and tried to run, but received a fatal wound to the back as she fled down a flight of stairs and fell, tumbling to the bottom. Her killer, 43 followed her down and put a bullet in the head of her crumpled and broken body, just to be sure.

Bloodsmith was done away with by the sinister assassin known only as 43 outside the Roger Steven's cafeteria. 43 was looking up Bloodsmith on Facebook to find pictures of him when he realised that the poor soul was actually just across the room from him. 43 waited until his target started to move, then garroted him just outside the café. Bloodsmith's dying words, croaked out before his breath was wholly cut off by the piano wire garrote, were "I thought you looked like the Assassin type...".

First Sightings

Updates from the Corporation report that the virus has in fact already infected some of the population. Two sightings, one possible cause of another death, have been made today. Are the Undead a reality we all have to face and fear?