

The Confidential Times

no.203.078

...for your eyes only...

- Since 2009

THE UNDEAD ARE SENTIENT

Unstoppable

After rising from the grave, there is this hunger....a hunger for flesh, a hunger for death. Jazz knows this hunger only too well as he longed for his next meal. Racing across the city in the early hours of the morning, Jazz just manages to catch Tommy gun as he left his residence for lectures, skewering him with the soon to be infamous Wakizashi Sword that has already sent two others to the underworld.

But as before....one was not enough, as Jazz's hunger picked up again later in the day. He scouted the Roger Stevens building for his next target, finally settling on the Kicker of Elves. Spying the target next to one of the numerous exits of the lecture theater, Jazz lay in wait.

Once the Kicker of Elves moved out exactly as predicted, Jazz crept behind slowly towards the target, taking him by the throat, once again with the dreaded Wakizashi sword. The living are never safe.

Most Wanted down

After trawling the most wanted list, I found a target on a similar course to me. Using some blind luck, and bare faced cheek, I worked out who the man I wanted was. lurking outside the lecture theatre I waited for Asmodean to come by. He saw the wooden spoon in my hand, his eyes opened wide with realisation that it was all over. The spoon was safely implanted into Asmodean's stomach.

Baron von Marlon

